security	Security over the *vehicle You grant a security interest in the vehicle to us to secure payment of the total amount owing. The security interest is a charge. You do this as beneficial owner. The security interest is first ranking.

payout figure	If the agreement is terminated early	The payout figure is an amount equal to: ▪ the loan balance; plus ▪ any interest charges which have accrued but which have not yet been debited to your loan account; plus ▪ the early termination fee (see fees and charges in these details and How do we calculate the early termination fee? below); plus ▪ any break costs (see How do we work out break costs? below); plus ▪ all other amounts you owe us under the agreement.

How do we calculate the early termination fee?

The early termination fee changes depending on when the early termination date happens:

early termination fee	when the early termination date happens
The amount equal to 3 average monthly repayments	before the date that is 3 years from the settlement date
The amount equal to 2 average monthly repayments	between the date that is 3 years from the settlement date and the date that is 4 years from the settlement date
The amount equal to 1 average monthly repayments	after the date that is 4 years after the settlement date

We calculate the average monthly repayment by taking the sum of all instalments payable over the term, dividing this amount by the number of months in the term and then multiplying that by 3, 2, or 1 - depending on when the early termination happens as set out above.
We do not use the amount described as the final repayment under repayment arrangements in these details in calculating an early termination fee.

How do we work out break costs?

To work out the break costs that we may charge, we calculate:

- any costs or loss to us of an early termination of the vehicle loan, and
- other amounts we've paid in connection with the vehicle loan but haven't recovered and don't otherwise recover from the early termination fee (e.g., establishment fees or commissions that were included in the repayments).

We take into account:

- the amount we would have earned from you for the rest of the term;
- our estimate of what we will earn now from the early repayment;
- the benefit of getting that sooner than expected; and
- costs incurred under our funding or hedging arrangements.

We can assess these things on a portfolio basis and across all or part of our funding or hedging arrangements - they don't need to relate to specific funding for the vehicle loan.
We'll always act in good faith and adopt commercially reasonable procedures when working out any break costs.
